Reflections

Reflecting on life and our relationship with God

What framework do we have to live out our lives in the here and now? Jesus taught us so many things about how to live with each other and how much He loves and cherishes us. He is our framework. But we also have the lives of the many women in the Bible to show us the "do's and don'ts" of living well. How do we learn from them in this day and age? What can we see in their lives that will encourage us, inform us, and even influence us?

This year we are going to explore the stories of some of these women and learn how they navigated the difficulties of life which are timeless and still affect us today.

We will meet on the 3rd Tuesday of each month in the lounge at CCW at 7.30pm until 9pm.

We invite you to join us. Here are some of the one word comments our girls have made about what they feel about meeting together.
